Eighth Sunday of Ordinary Time
27 February 2022

*Next Sunday: First Sunday of Lent
Year of Luke (C)*

Dear Friends and Parishioners,

In our Masses this Sunday we shall especially hold in prayer the horrendous unfolding situation in Ukraine, praying for a complete change of heart for those who would instigate such terror and warfare, and remembering the many thousands who are innocent and powerless, those fleeing their homeland and those who have to stay where they are. We ask God to bring a swift end to this conflict. Sixty European Bishops meeting in Rome suspended their work to pray for peace and said: "Every conflict brings with it death and destruction, provokes suffering for the people and threatens the coexistence of nations. The folly of war must be stopped!"

There will be a Vigil of Prayer for Ukraine in St Paul's Scottish Episcopal Cathedral this Sunday at 6.15pm and you are warmly invited to share in it.

Our Old Testament texts frequently talk of us being called to "climb the mountain" of the Lord. St Paul writes of "running the race". These are helpful images for us as we keep this Wednesday 2 March sacred with prayer, fasting and abstinence and gather with the community to participate in the preparatory rites of Lent before the great season for renewal opens formally on Sunday next. Please invite your family and friends to come with you to share in the Liturgy of Ashes.

It is almost upon us!

To anyone unfamiliar with our Catholic way of life it must seem a somewhat mystifying symbol, the annual day of ash being daubed on our foreheads, or as will happen this year, sprinkled over our heads!

We will all experience it this coming Wednesday though, and we'll be taken back to our roots; this gesture will set us on the great journey towards the font of Easter Night when we will solemnly renew our Baptismal Covenant.

What an experience! To walk the path of Lent purposefully, and then finally to stand with our brothers and sisters in faith, all of us with lighted candles, having heard the story of our salvation, being given the opportunity to claim our place in that story, the unfolding of the mystery of divine love. Confidently affirming "I do" to the Baptismal questions, we will then be sprinkled with the water of Baptism. [Please mark the night of the Easter Vigil in your diary now and resolve to be with us. It is the principal liturgy of the whole year, what the Church calls the "Mother and Queen of all Vigils". It will take place on Saturday 16 April.]

This great night and its Solemn Vigil does not stand alone though. It needs a Lent to lead up to it. I hope you will find, with me, from this Wednesday onwards, that the liturgies of Lent truly refashion us, God's people, in the likeness of Christ. Lent, with all its symbolic richness, is an apt symbol for our lives. Forty days in the desert teach us how to order our lives wisely.

In the language of the RCIA (Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults), Lent is the period of Purification and Enlightenment. The season of Lent was originally a forty day retreat for those who were to be baptised at the Easter Vigil.

Today, each member of the Church is invited to make the most of this forty day "retreat" while still living and working in the world. It certainly calls us (as far as we are able) to intentionally reduce our "business as usual". Hopefully we will have a clear sense in this season that we are called to something more, that this is a time to open ourselves to the divine life that God is seeking to restore in us. When you hear each of the scripture passages this coming Ash Wednesday you will recognise that call to holiness, just where you are now in your life and in the world, in the midst of the busy-ness and the daily routine. Lent gives us a chance to step back and remember that our lives should be strongly connected to our God who has redeemed us in Jesus.

Integrating family, work and leisure with the divine is surely a way to peace-filled living. New possibilities are held out to us through the practices of prayer, fasting and giving. And it is really important to remember right from the beginning of Lent that we are travelling towards the Easter Vigil with its great focus on Baptism and renewal, which eventually sends us out into the world in joyful service and witness.

The Second Vatican Council's Constitution on the Liturgy notes that "Lent is marked by two themes—the baptismal and the penitential. By recalling or preparing for Baptism, and by repentance, this season disposes the faithful as they more diligently listen to the Word of God and devote themselves to prayer, to the celebration of the paschal mystery" [para. 109]. So, as the Church enters Lent a certain "atmosphere" takes over, brought about by means of our worship: the Lenten rites are simple and noble, the Alleluia is silenced, and festive decor is removed from our churches. We refrain from actually celebrating Baptism but instead reflect on it and await the new waters of the font at the Vigil. The time of "Purification and Enlightenment" calls us to contemplation.....not always easy when we are so used to being people of seemingly perpetual activity!

The spiritual writer Ronald Rolheiser says that "Contemplation means living in such a way that God can enter our lives....contemplation means living in what the mystics have always described as a certain emotional and intellectual darkness.

God can only truly reveal himself to us when we do not block that revelation with our head, our emotions, and our actions”.

Lent can therefore be a challenge, and it can be costly to us. But grace abounds in this season! Trust the liturgy, trust the hidden power that is working in our gatherings, in the great images which will be put before us, in the scriptures, and in the invitations to healing, reconciliation, newness of life that will come your way. Responding generously and trusting confidently, we will be well on the way of the journey of transformation, which will peak at Easter.

I hope to meet soon with those attended from our parishes and then we will offer listening sessions in each of our three parishes. Full details of these in next week's newsletter.
